

September 8 Update –

With the unanimous support from the Interim Pastor Nominating Committee and the Leadership Team, we are excited to share that Rev. Pam Driesell has been extended and accepted a call to be the Interim Lead Pastor for Kairos Church.

Pam comes to Kairos after three decades of faithful ministry, including ten years of youth ministry work and most recently as the Senior Pastor at Trinity Presbyterian Church in Atlanta. She lives in Buckhead with her husband Joe.

Pam's first Sunday at Kairos will be September 18th and we're planning a reception after the service for you to meet her. Additionally, Pam will attend each of the newly formed Community Groups this month to begin to get to know more of the congregation.

As a reminder, calling the Interim Pastor is Phase 2 of the Pastoral Transition Process. In the next phase, we will be seeking nominations for and forming the Pastoral Nominating Committee to select our next permanent Pastor. For additional information on the process we are working through, please refer to the transition document.

Rev. Driesell is excited to join us later this month and we feel the Spirit moving in bringing us an Interim Pastor with a wealth of experience to shepherd us through this transition. Please join us in praying for Pam and for this new chapter of our church!

Gratefully,

The Kairos Leadership Team

August 31 Update -

The Interim Pastor Nominating Committee has been working hard to assess and interview potential candidates over the last several weeks. This hard work is paying off, as we have made significant progress to identify a candidate we prayerfully believe will help lead us through this season. We are planning to share our progress and updates next week in our monthly Leadership Team meeting. Following that meeting, more information will be shared with the Kairos Community. Please join us in praying over this process and our future Interim Pastor.
